In Memoriam

Joseph C. Keating, Jr, Ph.D., Litt.D.,

1950 - 2007

Joe, a member for twenty-two years, former President, Vice-President, and member of the Board of Directors, your dedication to the mission of the AHC was always evident. In your travels and efforts with us, many were very fortunate to become good friends with you. You helped us with our historical research projects, inspired us to become better historians, and gave extensively of your intelligence, emotion, and wisdom. You helped us to recognize the beauty, passion, and inspiration in the history of the chiropractic profession as well as help us to see the potential within ourselves.
We lovingly called you our “Triviahead of Chiropractic.” You exemplified a passion for chiropractic knowledge and historical detail unmatched by most in our profession. You dedicated yourself to being our chronicler and taught many of us how to do the same. The penultimate scholar in the profession, you nonetheless always found the time to serve as a mentor to a great many aspiring pupils. So long, friend, brother, mentor, and gentle soul. We will dearly miss you.
